reveal plans

Two new directions in which Antioch may grow were discussed at Monday night's village board committee meeting.

One is to the north, where Joe Patrovsky, owner of the Antioch Packing House, is hoping to annex 120 acres to the village. Patrovsky has plans for 173 lots specified for homes, apartments, townhouses and condominiums.

The other is to the southeast, where Homer White, well-known for his success in farming, is planning 423 parcels on 628 acres of land. Part of that land, on Rte. 173 east of Deep Lake Rd., is within 1½ miles of the village of Antioch.

White indicated he might seek county zoning within three or four months and told the village officials, "I need your blessing to proceed with this long-time project."

PATROVSKY'S preliminary plan already has been approved by the Antioch Planning Commission. He also has talked with school superintendents and the village parks commission but hasn't been to the zoning board yet.

Tennis entries close Saturday

This Saturday, July 15, is the deadline for entering the second annual Youth Singles tennis tournament being sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch.

The event will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 21, 22 and 23, at the high school and "Doc" Jensen Park courts.

Pres Reckers, vice president of the bank and coordinator of the three-day tournament, said response has been good with more than 40 youngsters already signed up as of Tuesday morning.

The field is expected to continue to grow as the usual late rush of entries pours in just before the deadline.

THE TOURNAMENT is for children and teens 8 through 17 years of age. Mr. Reckers stressed that beginners are welcome to take part along with those who have some tennis experience.

Youngsters and teens from Antioch township and the immediate surrounding area can sign up to compete in this singles-only tournament by obtaining an entry blank from the State Bank. Completed applications must be submitted in person to Mr. Reckers prior to the July 15 deadline.

Boys and girls will compete in separate divisions, in age groups 8 through 10, 11 through 13, 14 and 15, 16 and 17.

A total of 32 trophies will be presented in the boys and girls divisions, for first, second, third and fourth place in each age group.

ALL PARTICIPANTS WILL RECEIVE complimentary T-shirts and tennis towels from the State Bank of Antioch.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

My daddy always told me, never judge a man by his looks. (Wait and read his bumper stickers.)

He also was a firm believer that a college education wasn't necessary ... sometimes just getting a degree was sufficient.

WELL, I BLEW IT again. I wished Julie Gutowski a happy birthday on July 8 and, as everyone in Channel Lake knows, her birthday is today, July 12. Julie is 20 today, and just as pretty as I was at that age.

Next Monday will be the second wedding anniversary of Jeff Gutowski and the former Kathy Anderson. I'll never forget July 17 of 1976 when they came out of St. Peter's church, newly married, and were surprised by their friends who drove them over to the reception in a horse and buggy.

Monday, July 17, also is Bill Herbst's birthday. We will be nice to him and not tell you how old he is. (You wouldn't believe it.)

Two other Antioch people will be celebrating birthdays within the next week: Ted Poulos on the 15th and Ray Toft next Wednesday, the 19th.

Jason Eric Pederson celebrated his second birthday on July 10, and Jayme Joy Leonhart was two on July 7.

ALSO, EARLIER THIS MONTH, Kent Ipsen had his second birthday. Grandpa Lee Ipsen and Grandma Gert told me.

Speaking of birthdays, Vince Patla gets another year younger July 19. Wonder how Vince does it, always looking happy and cordial. The owner of Antioch's Brave Bull restaurant is quite a guy.

WEDDING BELLS WERE ringing eight years ago yesterday (Tuesday) for Mike and Sue Haley. The mayor, and his wife are wished a happy anniversary by all us folks here at the Antioch News.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD KURTH of Antioch are the proud parents of a baby girl, Amy Lee, born to them on June 25 at Lake Forest Hospital. Amy's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Albergo of Antioch and her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Betty Christensen of Wauconda. They certainly must be happy, since this is the Kurth's first baby!

CONGRATULATIONS TO Jim Egem of Antioch, who won $5,000 by getting three aces in the instant lottery. He bought the ticket from the gals at Reeves Drug Store and now qualifies for the millionaire drawing. (Remember, Jim, as your agent I get 10 percent.)

Mr. Egem also has been named an all-state commander

Board discovers zoning mix-up

Antioch village trustees deliberated the question of improper zoning for Al's Citgo Station on North and Main streets at their meeting July 5.

It was learned that the property is located on both business and residential housing lots.

The service station is owned by Albert Sodman Jr. of Antioch, who discovered his business, which has operated there for more than 20 years, was not properly zoned.

Mayor Mike Haley explained the problem to trustees and said Sodman was in business long before the zoning ordinances went into effect. Haley added that he thought it was just an obvious mistake that should be corrected.

Trustee Vern Barnstable said either Sodman or the board would have to petition to correct the mistake. Haley said he did not think Sodman should have to pay to petition a mistake that the board made.

The zoning board will now be requested to correct the error, trustees unanimously agreed.

To the Editor:

The members of the Antioch Volunteer Firemen's Association would like to thank the thousands of persons who supported the 1978 dance.

This dance, the last to be held in the Orchard Street station, was the biggest and best to date. The support given by the people of the community is greatly appreciated and means that the association can continue its support to the department.

FUNDS REALIZED from the dance are used to purchase equipment not allocated for in the regular budget. Last year new self-contained breathing apparatus, "Scot Air Paks," were purchased as was new paging equipment for the volunteer firemen.

Assistant Chief Vern Barnstable, chairman of the dance, would also like to thank the firemen who helped, the rescue squad for their assistance, and the many, many people who gave of their time and energy.

Below are the names of the 25 winners of prizes donated by the businessmen of the community:

'Walking Wounded'
looking for games

HEAR YE

What do the Antioch Jaycees and the Chicago Cubs have in common?

A lineup of ball players that looks like Custer's Last Stand.

Except that the Antioch Jaycees aren't dead, just riddled with injuries after Sunday's 8-7 softball victory over the Lake-in-the-Hills Jaycees.

IT WAS THE Antioch team's first game of the season and we understand some of the best performances were given at the picnic before the game and at the beer party that followed.

Bill Groeninger, a spokesman for the local team, said his charges are still looking for challengers.

"We haven't heard from the Moose Lodge yet," he said, "nor from the Rescue Squad."

The Jaycees have suggested local teams are afraid of them.

And, for good reason. You should have seen Jim Revell and Dave Lagerstrom whacking home runs at the Little League park last Sunday, and John Burnett and Chuck Spillner spinning their pitching magic.

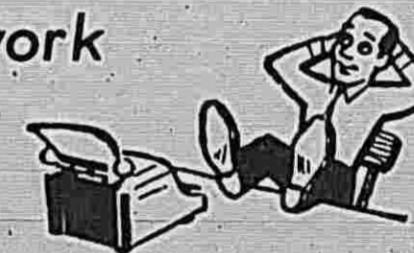

BURNETT WAS INJURED when he crashed into the left field fence while chasing a fly ball (while Spillner was pitching) and Paul Kinas suffered a fractured finger.

"But we hope to have a healthy lineup for our next game," Groeninger said. That will be Wednesday evening, Aug. 9, against the "retired State Bank tournament team," which includes such awesome sluggers as John Hedberg of Pickard China.

The Jaycees would like to warm up with some more games before Aug. 9 if only someone will accept their challenge.

Last Sunday each team put up $25 to be donated to the winner's favorite charity. The Jaycees now have $50 but may need it for bandages.

I didn't feel like coming to work
today in the first place

By JERRY PFARR

I heard from my old friend, Bill Soboleski of Sacramento, Calif., and he still is convinced our system is all screwed up.

"They should take young people and let them start at the top and work their way down," he maintains. "That way, they would have the money while they are still young enough to enjoy it."

Like Li'l Abner, if Soboleski "had his druthers, he'd rather have his druthers than anything else at all."

I have a hard time finding fault with his philosophy that the work ethic has made prisoners of us all.

MY KIND OF MAN is Joe Palmer, who was a distinguished professor of English at the University of Michigan, but would rather spend his afternoons at the horse races.

So he quit the classroom and went to the New York Herald Tribune, where he became the best thoroughbred racing writer of all-time. Said Palmer:

"I'm as good at ease and leisure as any man alive."

As for myself, I have always wanted to start a "procrastination club" but I keep putting it off.

ANYONE WHO HAS FOUGHT his way through the cigar smoke and stumbled over the cardboard boxes full of incompletely worked out that clutter my office has learned that I have two files:

-- a very small one for work that has to be done on the current issue, and

-- an enormous stack marked "Next Week for Sure."

A friend once observed:

"Anyone who has a file marked 'Next Week for Sure' isn't going to get much done this week."

I WAS DELIGHTED the other day to meet a fellow who also specializes in procrastinating. He is Allen Pfotenhauer and it probably isn't a coincidence that his name begins with "Pf." (I wonder how Pfister ever got his hotel built?)

Anyway, this charming fellow indicated he was considering a very important career as a "shade tree tester."

I can't top that wonderful idea, that burning desire to be as good at ease and leisure as any man alive.

But I suppose I could go over to the Soo Line tracks and, as the freight trains go past, be a boxcar counter.

SOMEONE IN THE OFFICE just said, "Why don't you be a lifeguard at a shark-infested beach? There wouldn't be any swimmers left to save."

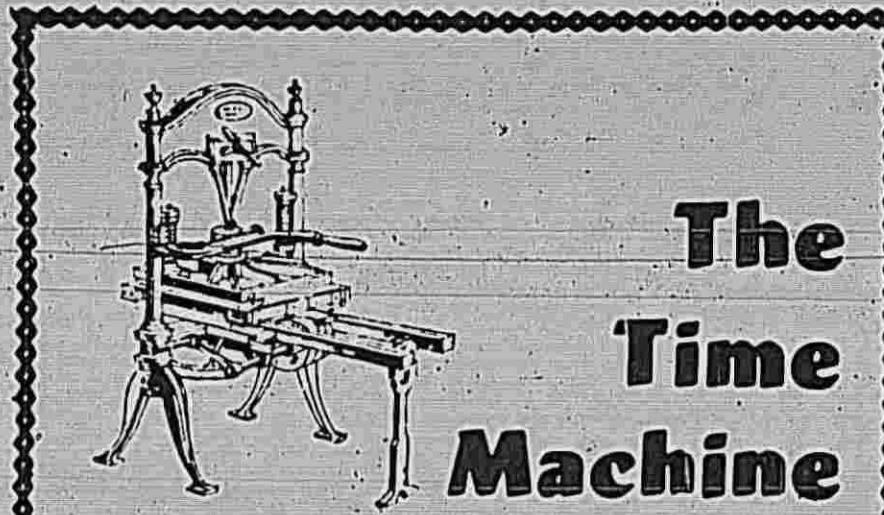

I'm glad I didn't say that, but I am sorry that I wrote it.

In fact, when I rolled the paper into the typewriter I had a feeling this wasn't going to be a very good column, and it certainly turned out that way.

I guess I should have put it off until next week for sure.

ELOPES WITH HER AFFINITY - Because she had been reprimanded by her husband, it is said, for staying out nights and because she believed that a change of climate would benefit her case of rheumatism, an opinion which her husband did not share, Monday night, Mrs. Chas. Wallis fled from her home for parts unknown. Coupled with her name is that of Chas. Stripe whom the husband accuses of having fled with Mrs. Wallis after an alleged long intimacy. With blood in his eye Mr. Wallis took up the hunt. Antioch's own Jim McMillen mixed it all over the place with King Kong, the "Abyssinian Wonder." Jim just wouldn't let King Kong carry through with dignity. Jim delighted the spectators by taking King Kong down and sitting on his chest, tossing him outside the ring into the mud and playing various other juvenile tricks. The crowd liked it but King Kong didn't, especially that part about the mud.

THE RIFLE THAT KILLED a Confederate general from more than a mile away during the Civil War is now on display at the State Bank of Antioch. The gun belongs to Tommy Haas of Antioch who came into possession of it last year.

Antique rifle boasts unequalled feat

By SUE NASENBENY

It's not often that you get the chance to see an authentic rifle used in the Civil War in 1864 which killed a Confederate general from an unequalled distance of one mile and 187 feet.

The .68 caliber rifle built more than a century ago is now on display at the State Bank of Antioch and will be there for one month. Its owner is Tommy B. Haas.

THE SNIPER RIFLE was used at the Battle of Red River in Pleasant Hill, La. Captain John H. Metcalf III of the Union Army used the super-accurate machine rest rifle and shot it from a camouflage on the top of a high hill.

The captain had information from army engineers as to the exact elevation required for the shot, but he had to carefully calculate wind deflection and retardation over that long distance.

The feat of intentionally shooting to kill from that distance remains unequalled in military history.

THE RIFLE WAS NAMED "Little George Lainhart" by its builder, Abraham Williams of New York, who was a contract heavy target rifle maker for sniping purposes for the Union Army during the Civil War.

It is composed of rosewood and mounted in German silver. The instrument has a two-inch-wide heavy octagon barrel and weighs 36 pounds.

Two solid gold hearts are inlaid on the stock just in back of the barrel on the left side. And the rifle's name is engraved in script on the comb, or top, of the stock.

HAAS EXPLAINED that guns of any consequence during that time were always given a name and that the gold hearts were part of the decoration and style of that era.

A replica of the rifle was used in the 1960's during a CBS television series titled "True," narrated by Jack Webb. In the episode, "The Mile-Long Shot to Kill," the heavy rifle used was borrowed from a collection because the television studio did not know where the gun existed, so they had it duplicated from a photograph.

The rifle was then the property of Johnnie Bassett of Fayetteville, Ark. He sold it to S.P. Stevens of Texas, who sold it to Leo Bradshaw of the same state. Haas then acquired it last year.

THE RIFLE HAD NO loading equipment with it when Stevens bought it, so he had to make bullet molds, bullet swages, patch cutters and figure powder charges.

The bullet molds, which create bullets when lead is poured into them, are also on display at the bank, along with a powder keg typical of the 1830s.

Haas, who is employed by Abbott Laboratories, lives in Antioch and has been an antique gun collector for 20 years. He collects guns used during the early American West period, mainly Winchester rifles and Colt Pistols.

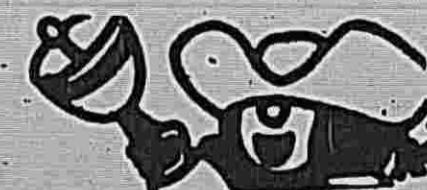

"Don't part with your illusions. When they are gone you may still exist, but you have ceased to live."

MICHAEL A. WELLS and CHERYL J. STADICK

Engaged

A Sept. 16 wedding at United Methodist Church is being planned by Cheryl J. Stadick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Stadick, Antioch and Michael A. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wells, also of Antioch.

Cheryl and Michael are graduates of Antioch High School and both are employed at Abbott Laboratories, Cheryl as a secretary and Michael as a printer.

An August wedding is being planned by Linda J. Therry and Donald F. Zeman.

The daughter of Robert and Roberta Therry of Waukegan, and the son of Frank and Margaret Zeman of Antioch, have chosen to be married in Holy Rosary Church in North Chicago where the bride-elect's parents and grandparents were married.

Miss Therry is a home economics teacher at Antioch High School. She earned a bachelor's degree at the University of Illinois in Champaign and is affiliated with Phi Upsilon Omicron honorary fraternity. Mr. Zeman is a graduate of Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire, and is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He teaches social studies at Antioch High School where their romance began 3½ years ago. They will make their home in Antioch.

Titus enjoys reunion of 1928 college class

Joe Titus of Antioch recently went back to his alma mater, Union College in Schenectady, N.Y. for the reunion of his graduating class on 1928.

The college was chartered in 1795, the first college chartered by the Regents of the State of New York. An independent liberal arts and engineering men's college for the first 175 years, it admitted its first full-time undergraduate women in 1970.

Titus said the student body which in 1928 was about 700 students is now approximately 2,100 full-time undergraduates with 600 graduate students.

The 1928 class graduated with 147 students, 90 of whom still are living and 46 members attended the reunion. With this outstanding showing, the class won two trophies in the Alumni parade, he said, one for the greatest number in the parade and the other for the highest percentage of class members there. Joe added, "Best of all, with but two exceptions, everybody marched."

"I wouldn't have missed the reunion for anything. As I stood on campus and recalled those years, I wished I might come back to relive those student days of hard work, hard study, athletics and a whole lot of fun, and with those same student friends that I joined at this get-together," Titus said.

The college has a 100-acre campus known familiarly as "the grounds" and is an area within the city crossed by no public streets with an adjoining 50-acre recreational and athletic area. Titus said it has beautiful and quiet surroundings in which to go to school.

He added, "There's a song we sing and believe me, we did it with great gusto. 'If you want to go to Union just come along with me.' And yes, indeed, I'd again love to go along."

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

Plan A Family Reunion

You can spice up your family life this season with a family reunion--on a holiday weekend or for no special reason--now that vacationing relatives may be free to travel long distances to renew family ties and acquaintances.

To help you plan one, McDonald's® restaurants and the American Family Society have developed some family reunion ideas:

IT'S ALWAYS A GOOD TIME to bring your family closer.

- Shoot pictures and mount them in albums. Give an album to each family group.
- Blow up baby pictures of all guests, and display them at the party.
- Surprise faraway relatives by inviting their former local friends to the party.
- Plan a "family night" outing to a nearby event.
- No one should work during the reunion, so have your get-together catered, or plan a carry-out picnic. Many fast-service restaurants offer special carry-out arrangements.

A free brochure with additional family reunion tips is available from the American Family Society, Box 9873, Washington, D.C. 20015.

All about town

By LINDA WALKER

Vern Dreher is the new owner of Antioch's Dairy Queen. Vern is a veteran with the "scrumpdelicious" company...he has two other Dairy Queens, one in Barrington and one in Wauconda.

The newly-remodeled ice cream store on Main Street has been reopened about a month now. The interior might be new and different, but they still make a great Peanut Buster Parfait. I love 'em.

Yummmmmmm...summer has such a good start.

THE ANTIQUA SHOPPING Plaza recently received a new coat of paint. It looks fresh and clean and it's only coincidental that the color matches Illinois Bell's office.

This must be the time of year for painting. Laseo's Florist is getting a fresh outlook, too.

And last but not least, we can't forget that the colors on the front of The Antioch News are starting to match. (Editor's note: You can't put out a good newspaper and paint at the same time. Back to Linda ...)

Several weeks ago 11-year-old Tony Besson painted the doors and our over-worked editor resumed the project last week by painting the background of our sign.

It was a little messy and a little inconvenient, but he gets the straw boss' approval. Job well done.

MOST OF THE businesses in town are starting their semi-annual clearance sales. The summer stock is greatly reduced, which is super, since summer has just begun.

Take advantage of some of the bargains by looking through today's paper for detailed ads.

THIS SATURDAY is the last day to enter the second annual State Bank of Antioch tennis tournament.

If you're a boy or girl between the age of 8 through 17 and will be around Antioch July 21, 22 and 23 be sure to submit your completed entry blank to Pres Reckers' office at the bank by Saturday, July 15.

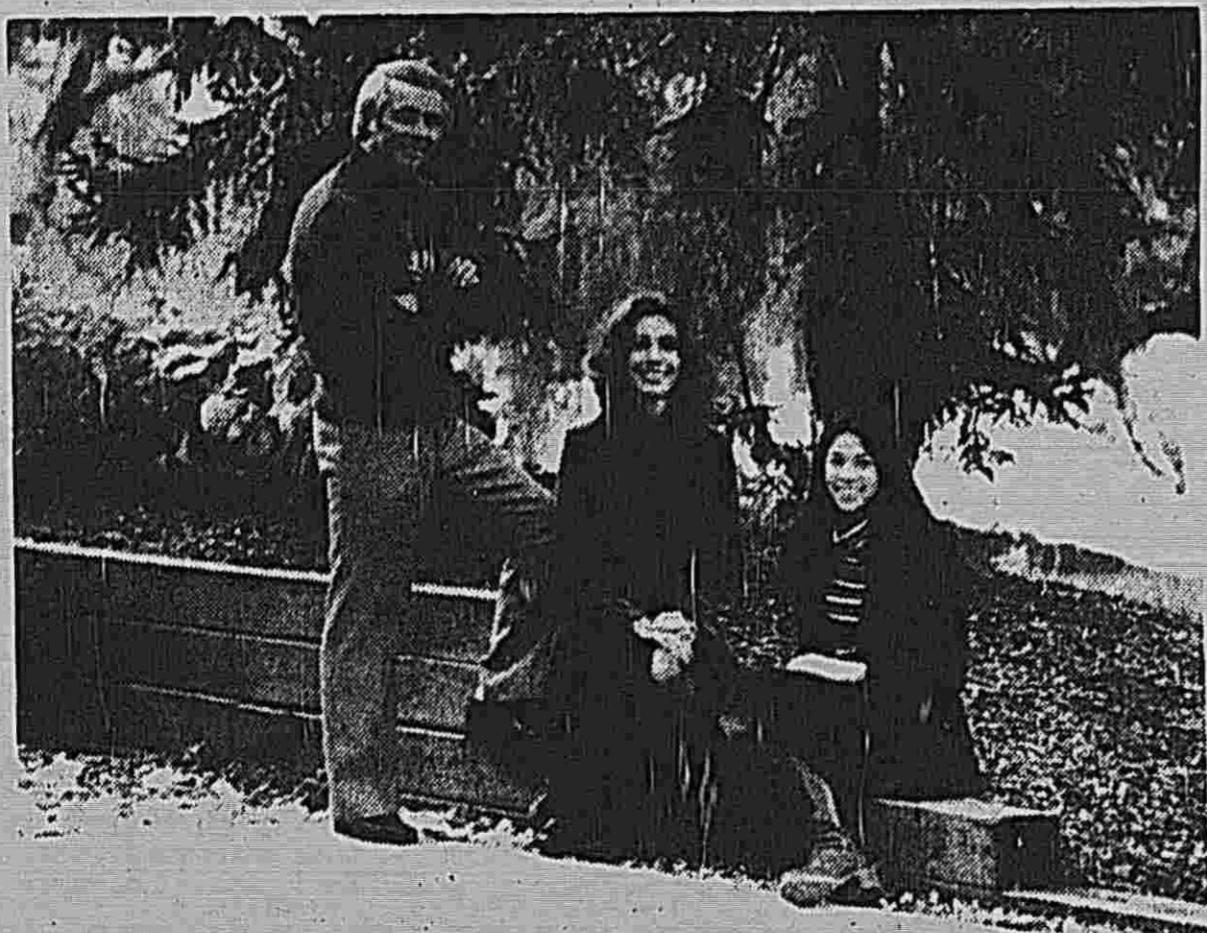

The best of luck to all participants.

IF YOU'RE ANYTHING like me, Wednesday, the middle of the week is blah. It's a good day to lay around and do as little as possible.

This week why not drive out to Bristol Oaks Country Club and enjoy a round of golf and their Wednesday special-chicken. It won't matter how hungry you are because it's "all you can eat."

The attractive country club is located on highway 50 just 2½ miles west of I-94.

Jack Fields (left), chairman of the Lions' fund-raising committee for the Rescue Squad, presents the check to Wayne Sobczak (center), treasurer of the squad. At the right, Don Morris, Lions Sobczak said the money was needed to "update the squad's rather obsolete equipment. Now we have one of the most advanced telemetry units in the country."

Antioch develops as Hub-of-Lakes

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of articles on how and why Antioch is growing. Today's article captures a glimpse of the Antioch of another era and the spirit which has helped the community evolve to what it is today.)

By LINDA BARNES

From its beginning, Antioch has always had a feeling of development, expansion and prosperity to it.

The construction of its famed sawmill in 1839 and a steam grist mill in 1856 automatically drew mechanics of all kinds to the area, and eventually a community began to develop around the mills.

As an early settlement, Antioch's pioneer merchant, Daniel Head, quickly developed his general store into a varied and extremely profitable business, one which eventually became a center of trade for many miles around.

WITH THE CONSTRUCTION of the Wisconsin Central Railroad in 1885, the town inalterably changed, for then it became easily accessible to Chicago and its outlying areas. It was during this era of the late 1880's that Antioch commenced its development as a resort community, and gained its reputation as the "Hub of the Lake Region."

Many resort hotels were built. Hundreds of people from Chicago and its surrounding towns bought and built homes in the region. New stores sprang up, Antioch's economy began to boom.

THE SUMMER SEASON brought an atmosphere of gaiety and festivity to the resort town, one where a great variety of dances, concerts and parties were constantly being held.

Mrs. Edith Elms, of Coral Apartments, Antioch, recalls the many parties and dances she attended throughout her lifetime in Antioch. Her father owned a hotel called the Edgar House, which was situated on the corner of Main and Orchard Streets. She remembers a good deal of wealthy clientele, some who came with their maids and footmen, staying at hotels in the area.

"Whole trainloads of people would get off here," recalls Mrs. Elms. "I remember we would get done with work early to watch the people get off the trains."

At that time, Mrs. Elms said, there wasn't as much competition between hotels. Each hotel had certain regions from which they derived their own clientele. If one hotel was fully booked, it would send its customers to another nearby hotel.

THE HOTELS BROUGHT many new people to the area... and of course a grand variety of summer-time activities.

Dancing was one such activity. There were pavilions, such as the Savages, which booked big name bands. There were ballrooms, such as Twin Lakes, where people could dance all night. At times, dances were held upstairs of the old Antioch News building. (In the winter-time a skating rink was set up there.) At "The Palace," summer prize-fighting was held. There was also an opera house in town which frequently booked touring companies.

Community members would often organize their own street dances... and also put on their own hometown plays.

"THERE WAS ALWAYS something to do in this town," recalls Mrs. Elms. "We used to dance seven nights a week... We'd get things going at the drop of a hat."

Mrs. Phyllis Morley McMillen of Antioch was born in 1903 in her parents' home on the corner of Main and Lake streets. The front lawn of her parents' home was a gathering place for all of the neighborhood children to come and play. At that time, there were three automobiles in town. However, many people traveled on horseback or with horse and buggy and these means of transportation did enough to kick up the dust of Main Street's gravel road.

LAKE AND VICTORIA streets were lined with enormous trees, whose full, thick, arched branches met in the center of the street and provided cool and shade from the hot summer sun.

There was a good deal of commerce even then; and some of the shops which lined Main Street included a shoe store, an ice cream parlor, a bakery, a grocery store, a butcher shop, a harness shop, a pharmacy, a notion store, Williams Brothers General Store, Radke's Barber Shop, and A.B. Johnson's newspaper shop. The fire station, jail, and library, all located in one building, were also found on Main Street.

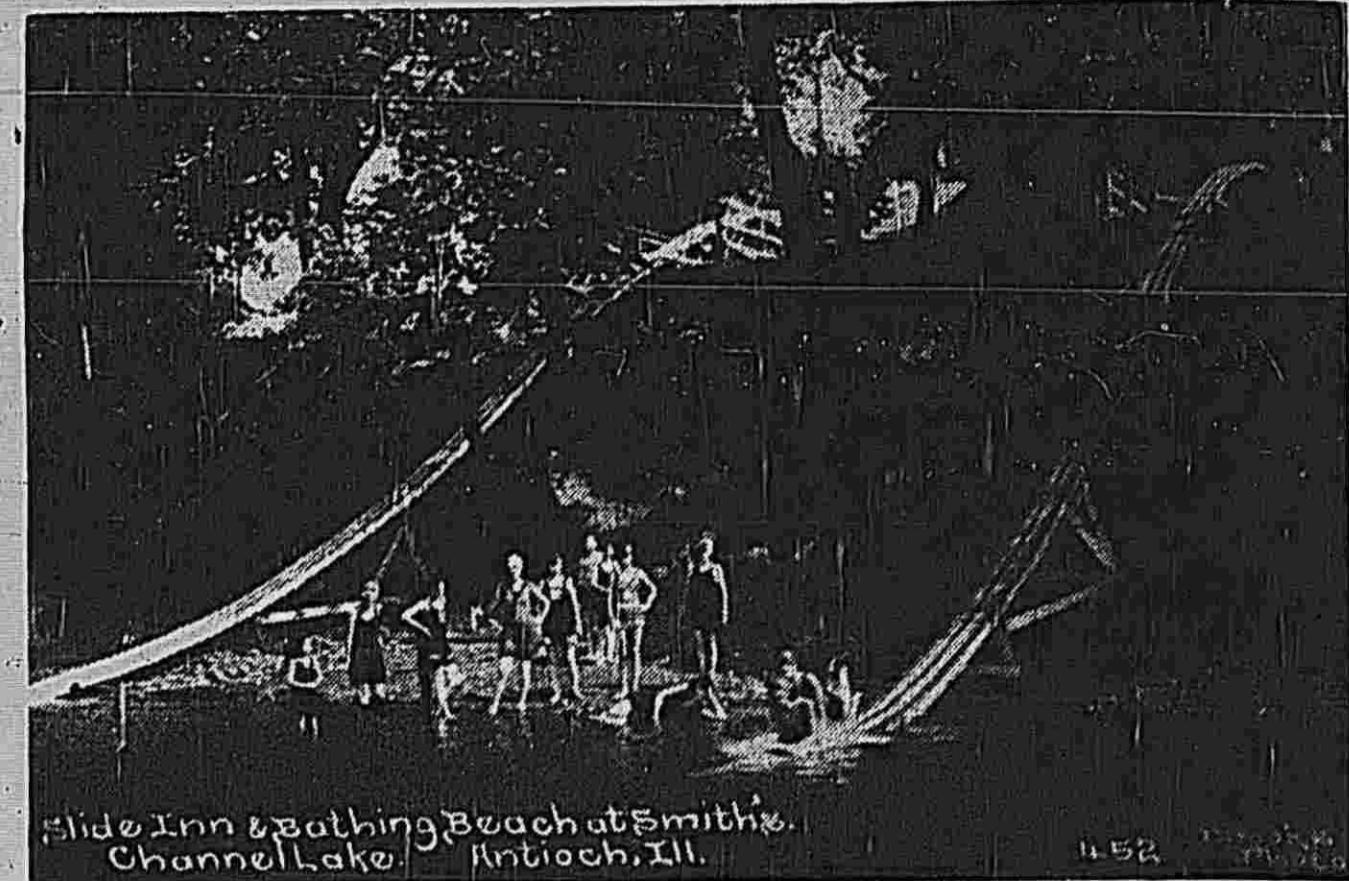

SEQUOIT CREEK RAN right through the town and there was a bridge over it. Mrs. McMillen, who attended the original Antioch grammar school on Main Street, remembers that an integral part of her walk to school was stopping to play at the creek.

Of course, there was no electricity in those days; the houses were lit with kerosene lamps. There was a water pump in the kitchen and the water was then heated on the stove.

The houses were heated with coal stoves, which meant that there was very little heat upstairs.

"You ran fast into the bedrooms into big feather beds," recalls Mrs. McMillen.

IN THE EVENING, most everyone sat around the dining room table. Mr. McMillen remembers his mother reading to the children at night. Mrs. McMillen remembers her mother going into the parlor to sing old revolutionary and civil war songs.

"That was our amusement," says Mrs. McMillen.

In 1914 or thereabouts, the silent movies came to Antioch. The movies were shown at Eriksen's material shop on Lake Street. They were held once a week and the entrance fee was five cents.

Radke's Barber Shop, at 912 Main Street, had been in existence before Mrs. McMillen's childhood.

Established in 1896 by Mr. Herman Radke and later taken over by his son Cap (Morris) Radke, the business has been held by the same family in the same shop out the lifetimes of these people. From the perspective of business and clientele, Mr. Radke feels that operating a business has become less personal. Many people now come into his shop whom he does not know. This, compared to his father's and grandfather's eras when everyone knew everyone else, marks a movement towards an atmosphere of increased impersonality in the town.

MR. AND MRS. McMILLEN and Mrs. Elms all feel that their generation has seen vast and extraordinary changes in their lifetimes. They have gone from kerosene lamp, coal stove, and horse and buggy to for over 82 years. Mr. Richard Radke, present proprietor of the barber shop, then succeeded his father in 1973. He had, however, worked in the shop, first under his grandfather and later under his father, since 1956. He is the third generation of Radkes to operate the shop.

MR. RADKE, WHO says he is proud to carry on his family tradition, said the business has been very good to him.

The nature of the business has considerably changed throughout the years, especially in the area of hair-styling. Versatility in the cutting and styling of hair is now an important factor.

Mr. Radke says he still has third generation customers patronizing his shop and notes many new customers coming into his shop. Many of these people have recently moved into the area.

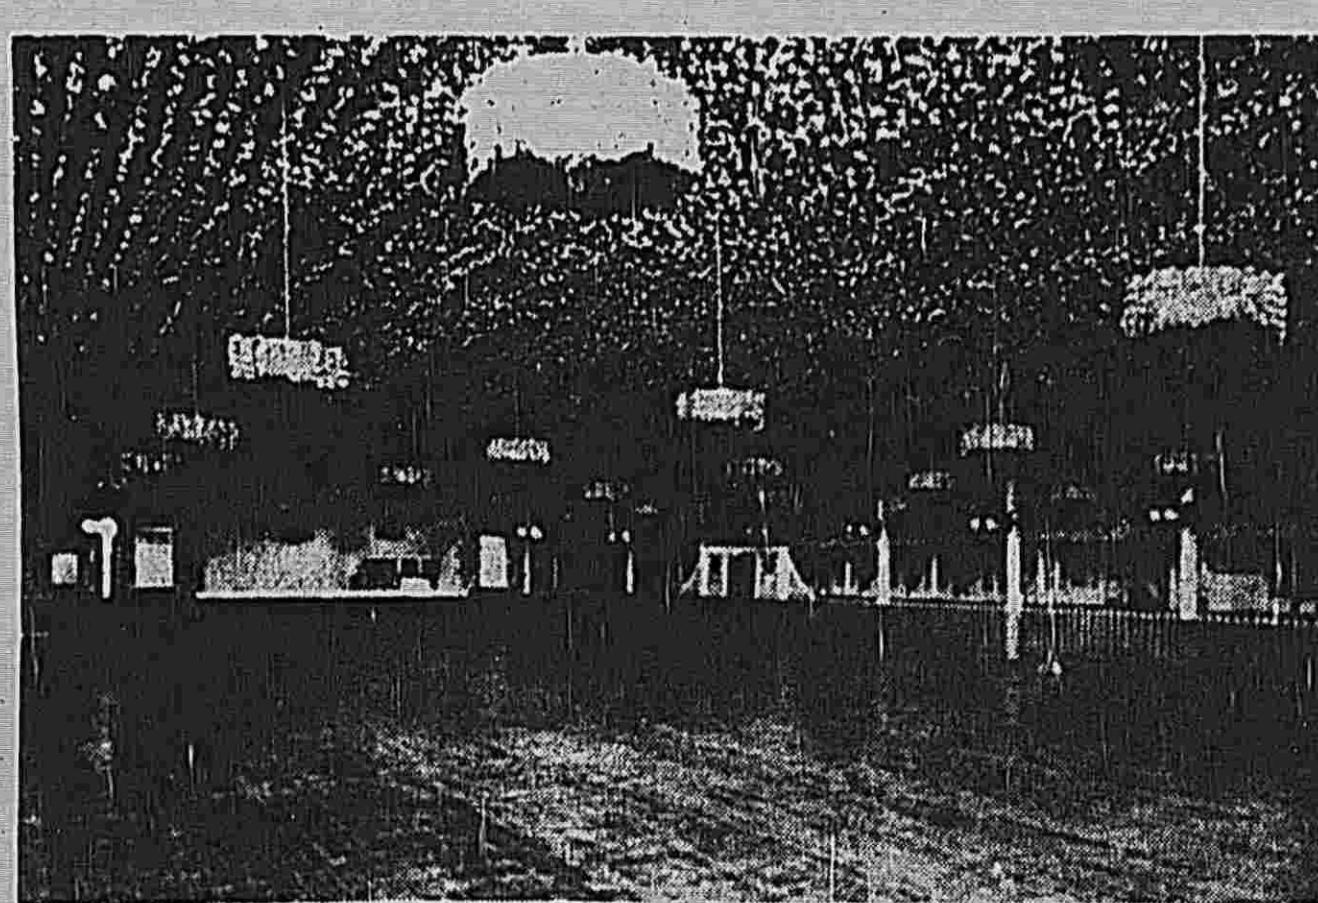

"Lots of new people like to do business in Antioch," notes Mr. Radke.

electricity, central heating and jet-age travel in a startlingly short period of time.

"We have seen a gamut of everything," comments Mrs. Elms. "It has happened so fast, I think maybe that's where a lot of our trouble is coming from."

Mrs. Elms states that what she remembers most of her earlier years in Antioch is "people helping others." There was less of a sense of rivalry and competition amongst people, she said.

While there were less state or federal benefits for the needy at that time, Mrs. Elms claims that members of the community would automatically and unconsciously provide for the needy on their own. For example, the women's club of Antioch had a habit of keeping a few used layettes at their disposal so that if someone had a baby and could not afford the essentials for their new child, they would quietly and without undue embarassment be helped along by the community.

Mr. and Mrs. McMillen recall that even the family structure was quite different. There were almost always other adults living in the household, whether they were aunts, uncles or grandparents. As well, there was usually a young woman (often an immigrant from Ireland or England) who served as a mother's helper. This woman literally became part of the family, and she, as well as the other adults in the home, shared the household chores. This gave the average housewife a good deal more freedom than she has today, something which of course affected the psychological character and the interactions of the family.

BUT, MRS. McMILLEN reminds us, there was no great rush. The pace of life was undoubtedly much slower and there was less emphasis on the making and accumulation of money. This point was also raised by Mrs. Elms, who feels that people work too many hours these days and do not spend enough time with their families.

When did Antioch begin to change the most? Both the McMillens and Mrs. Elms emphatically say it happened with the advent of fast transportation, especially automobiles. Automobiles and motorboats contributed to the increased noise level in the village and on the lakes, which both the McMillens and Mrs. Elms claim can often be disruptive and annoying.

WHAT ARE THEIR feelings regarding the most recent developments and changes in Antioch? Both the McMillens and Mrs. Elms are in favor of Antioch's further growth and feel it to be essential to the welfare of the community at large.

Mr. McMillen feels that more light industry is needed, provided that it is well-controlled and does not pollute.

"That's civilization," Mr. McMillen commented. "It has to expand. They're trying to control it with zoning."

But in spite of the changes which have taken place over the years, many of which are of course nationwide and worldwide in scope, the McMillens and Mrs. Elms remain extremely positive, enthusiastic and loyal to their town.

"When you come to Antioch and get settled here, you never want to live anywhere else," says Mrs. McMillen. "There's a certain fascination with it. I don't know exactly what it is that attracts people."

SAYS MRS. ELMS, "I don't know of anywhere else I'd want to live."

And this, in spite of (or perhaps because of) the rapid development taking place, seems to be how the great majority of community members feel about Antioch - exceedingly positive, noticeably enthusiastic and consistently loyal.

Next week: We will examine the commerce of Antioch.

THE RONALD REAGAN COLUMN

Why The Criminals May Be Winning

Several weeks ago the press routinely carried a story about a U.S. Supreme Court decision that goes a long way toward explaining why the "bad guys" may be winning the war on crime.

In Rolla, Mo., a state patrolman saw an unkempt stranger with no luggage of any kind trying to hitchhike his way west on an interstate highway. Patrolman Herbert J. Hoffman went on his way without pausing. But when he saw the same man an hour later, this time three miles away trying to hitch a ride south on a local highway, he became suspicious enough to stop and ask for the man's I.D.

While the hitchhiker, Thomas Carl Jones, sat in the patrol car, Hoffman made a radio check and learned that Jones was wanted in Pennsylvania for the theft of a revolver. Pennsylvania authorities also wanted him for questioning in the murder of his aunt. (He was later charged with that crime.) Hoffman had already taken possession of a .38 caliber revolver so, all-in-all, it looked like a good bit of police work . . .

Evidence Thrown Out

A Pennsylvania court refused to allow the gun or statements Jones had made to Patrolman Hoffman to be introduced as evidence. The judge said the patrolman didn't have "probable cause" to suspect Jones of criminal activity. He further ruled that even though Jones had only been detained and had talked voluntarily to Hoffman, the patrolman's uniformed presence constituted authority and force.

The district attorney said that the gun and the voluntary statements made by Jones had been the critical evidence he was counting on. The judge's decision was upheld by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to review it. According to the district attorney, it is unlikely that Jones will be prosecuted for the murder of his aunt.

This is another one of those "exclusionary rule" cases. An arresting officer is held to be in technical violation of someone's constitutional rights; therefore, no evidence found by him can be used in court. It is so contrary to common sense that officers have complained that if they stopped a man for running a red light and found a bleeding body in the back seat they could still only charge the man with a traffic violation.

We tried to get a solution to this "exclusionary rule" in California while I was governor, but the trial lawyers' association and a permissive legislature blocked action.

Proposed Solution

We proposed that in cases of technical violations by a law enforcement officer the citizen be allowed to sue the government body employing the officer at the government's expense, but that any evidence found by the officer be admissible in court. Not perfect, but it would give protection to the citizen unjustly hassled by law enforcement at the same time that it kept the courts from turning someone obviously guilty back out on the streets.

Announce cast for 'No, No, Nanette'

The indestructible "No, No, Nanette," which has been called such things as "the new 1925 musical," and "the happiest show in town," will open at the PM&L Theater in Antioch on Friday, July 28.

Subsequent performances are set for Saturday, July 29, and Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 4, 5 and 6.

Curtain time for all shows is 8:30 p.m.

The PM&L production is directed by Tom Hausman, with Elmarie Beno as stage manager, Eva Harper as music director and Pam Guardi as choreographer.

The cast includes Lillian Allen, Dorie Hubbard, Don Beveroth, Dena Fabry, Bill Baum, Rosline Scheske as Nanette, Peter Thelin, Miss. Guardi, Dee Baum and Irene Hahn.

The chorus includes singers and dancers, Tracy Kiederlen, Robin Mercier, Pat Poskoisim, Stacie Slazes, Dave Krostal, Steve Swanson, Pat Basti and David Beno.

"No, No, Nanette" is remembered as a showcase for the music of Vincent Youmans. Two of the most famous show tunes ever written, "Tea for Two" and "I Want to Be Happy," are featured.

The book, by Otto Harbach and Frank Mandel, weaves an essentially light-hearted story, with much of the action taking place in the Atlantic City of the 1920s.

Regents' program at Moose

By JUDITH PAGE

The Antioch Women of the Moose were hosts last Thursday to seven visiting chapters for the annual College of Regents program.

The guests from Waukegan, Wauconda, Fox Lake, Elmhurst, Cicero, Chicago Southwest and Greater Chicago held the officers' chairs to pay tribute to the collegians of the Antioch chapter.

Antioch's Dorothy Tralewski was chairman and was honored by receiving her red tassel for one full year as a regent.

In a special ceremony Erna Toft and Judy Page received the red stoles to adorn their black gowns for completing their fourth year as College of Regents' members. Presenting the red tassel and red stoles were Gerry Mark, Jerri Polson and Gladys Schroeder.

Two new members were enrolled: Susan Henriksen and Joanne Precht. After the enrollment ceremony, Antioch's June Ballenger was guest speaker.

The chapter's newly elected officers and chairmen will assume their duties at the business meeting to be held July 20. The year's policies will be voted on at the meeting.

NEWS Of Camping

All work and no play needn't be the inevitable lot of the camper-cook.

There's a new pan available this year that's proving a boon for nature-lovers who want more outdoors and fewer chores. It's the non-stick tri-pan — made in France where hiking and camping are almost a national obsession.

The tri-pan meets every need a camper could demand from one piece of cookware. Light enough for back-packing, yet extremely durable.

At breakfast, for instance, sausages can be cooked in one section, pancakes in another, and scrambled eggs started at the last minute in the third. Everything's ready and hot when early risers emerge from the tent. And breakfasters can enjoy the sweet morning air and peaceful surroundings with nary a care about clean-up, for the tri-pan features T-Fal's great non-stick interior of mechanically bonded pure PTFE. A swish of a soapy cloth and the pan's magically clean!

Astro- Analysis

By Sonia

ARIES [March 21-April 19] - Don't waste time with those who show antagonism. Make this a profitable week for improving family relations, strengthening ties.

TAURUS [April 20-May 20] - Gain is through communications; continue to make important contacts, write letters, handle paperwork. Make headway by voicing your opinion.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Use your ingenuity to devise new ways of adding to income, personal resources; accept the helpful advice friends have to offer. Make careful evaluations about finances.

CANCER [June 22-July 21] - Good opportunities for advancement make this a week to go ahead with plans. Your extroverted personality proves extremely favorable for personal gain.

LEO [July 22-August 21] - Work on cultivating spiritual attunement, self-improvement. By spending a quieter week new insight can be gained. You get gratification by helping one in distress.

VIRGO [August 22-September 22] - Through your own past efforts, career matters, financial conditions can be greatly improved. Your tendencies to see matters successfully through to the finish now paves the way for more security.

Sweet Adelines plan guest night Monday

Like to sing? The Lake County Chapter of Sweet Adelines is hosting a guest night, "Summer Time Sing," on Monday, July 17, at 8 p.m. at the Viking Park recreation building on Old Grand Ave. in Gurnee.

Entertainment will be provided by "Joy Ride," a third-place regional medalist quartet.

Membership is open to women 14 years of age and older. Formal musical training is not necessary for barbershop singing, which is four-part harmony.

The Lake County chorus under the direction of Joan Gardner recently won honorable mention at the regional competition in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Sweet Adelines is an international organization of 30,000 members.

For further information or transportation, call Mrs. Louis Korom, 356-1245.

MOM! Here's a birthday party for your child that's all fun and no work.

Children love parties - and what's more, they love McDonald's! Now you can make your child's birthday extra-special, because you can treat them to both - a birthday party and McDonald's at the same time.

1979 Art Fair already planned

"Everything was a success. We had a very good day."

Nancy Kinas, executive director of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry, was summing up Sunday's 6th annual Arts, Crafts and Antique Fair and Community Summerfest.

"We hope to do it again next year," she said. "The date will be the second Sunday in July again."

More than 150 artists displayed their works and about 300 pancake breakfasts were served on the morning of the event.

Thousands from Antioch and communities throughout the area visited Broadway Street for the fun and the fair.

Fire departments participated in water fights for prizes donated by the First National Bank.

Advertisers, State Bank win Babe Ruth games

The Advertisers beat the Medics in Babe Ruth League baseball last Thursday 11-4, led by winning pitcher Dean Haviland.

Roy Raven led off the fourth inning with a single and the Advertisers went on to score seven runs. Joe Carrubba ripped a single to right center, driving in two runs. Raven led the team with three hits while Gordon Nasenbeny, Phil Herrera, Dean Haviland and Pete Kessler each had two hits.

IN THE FIRST inning, Herrera caught a ball in the left field and threw out a base runner trying to score from third. That killed a possible Medic rally. Haviland struck out six, walked five and allowed six hits.

In another game, the Advertisers, coached by Dick Witt, beat Hahn's Jewelers last Sunday 8-7. Herrera was again the winning pitcher.

The game went into extra innings as the Advertisers gained the winning run in the ninth. Mark Williams was the starting pitcher and allowed only one walk and four hits through four innings. But Williams walked the first three batters in the top of the seventh and Herrera came in for relief.

IN THE BOTTOM of the seventh, John Donaldson led off with a home run, tying the score. In the eighth and ninth innings, Hahn Jewelers failed to score with Herrera firing four more strikeouts.

In the bottom of the ninth with one out, Nasenbeny reached first on an error, promptly stole second and then went on to third on an attempted pick-off play at second base. Donaldson laid down a bunt on the first base line and Nasenbeny scored the winning run.

Donaldson had three hits, including a triple and a home run. He also threw out a man stealing second in the seventh inning and caught a difficult pop fly in the eighth.

ALSO IN BABE RUTH games, the State Bank beat the Vault 15-10 with a seven-run rally in the last inning.

Don Purfeerst and Ed Jorgenson each hit a triple in the rally. Manager Tom McAvoy and Coach Jack McAvoy said it was an overall team effort.

Clinic to be held July 19

A combined immunization, hearing and vision screening clinic for children will be held Wednesday, July 19, at the St. Peter's Church Hall, 557 Lake Street, Antioch.

This free Clinic will be conducted by the Lake County Health Department and will be open from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Appointments are not necessary.

This is an excellent opportunity for parents to have their children immunized against polio, D.P.T. (diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus), measles, mumps, rubella (German measles) and to determine if their hearing and vision are normal.

All pre-school age children are welcome. Parents are asked to bring their children's past immunization records with them so that current immunization needs can be determined.

For further information contact the Lake County Health Department, 3010 Grand Avenue, Waukegan, 689-6761.

Modular stereo can go on vacation also

If you plan to spend time in a vacation cottage on weekends or for a vacation, think about taking along a stereo unit.

Zenith suggests that you consider a modular stereo unit. These systems offer all of the advantages of stereo sound and at the same time are easy to adapt to the space limitations of a summer cottage or motor home.

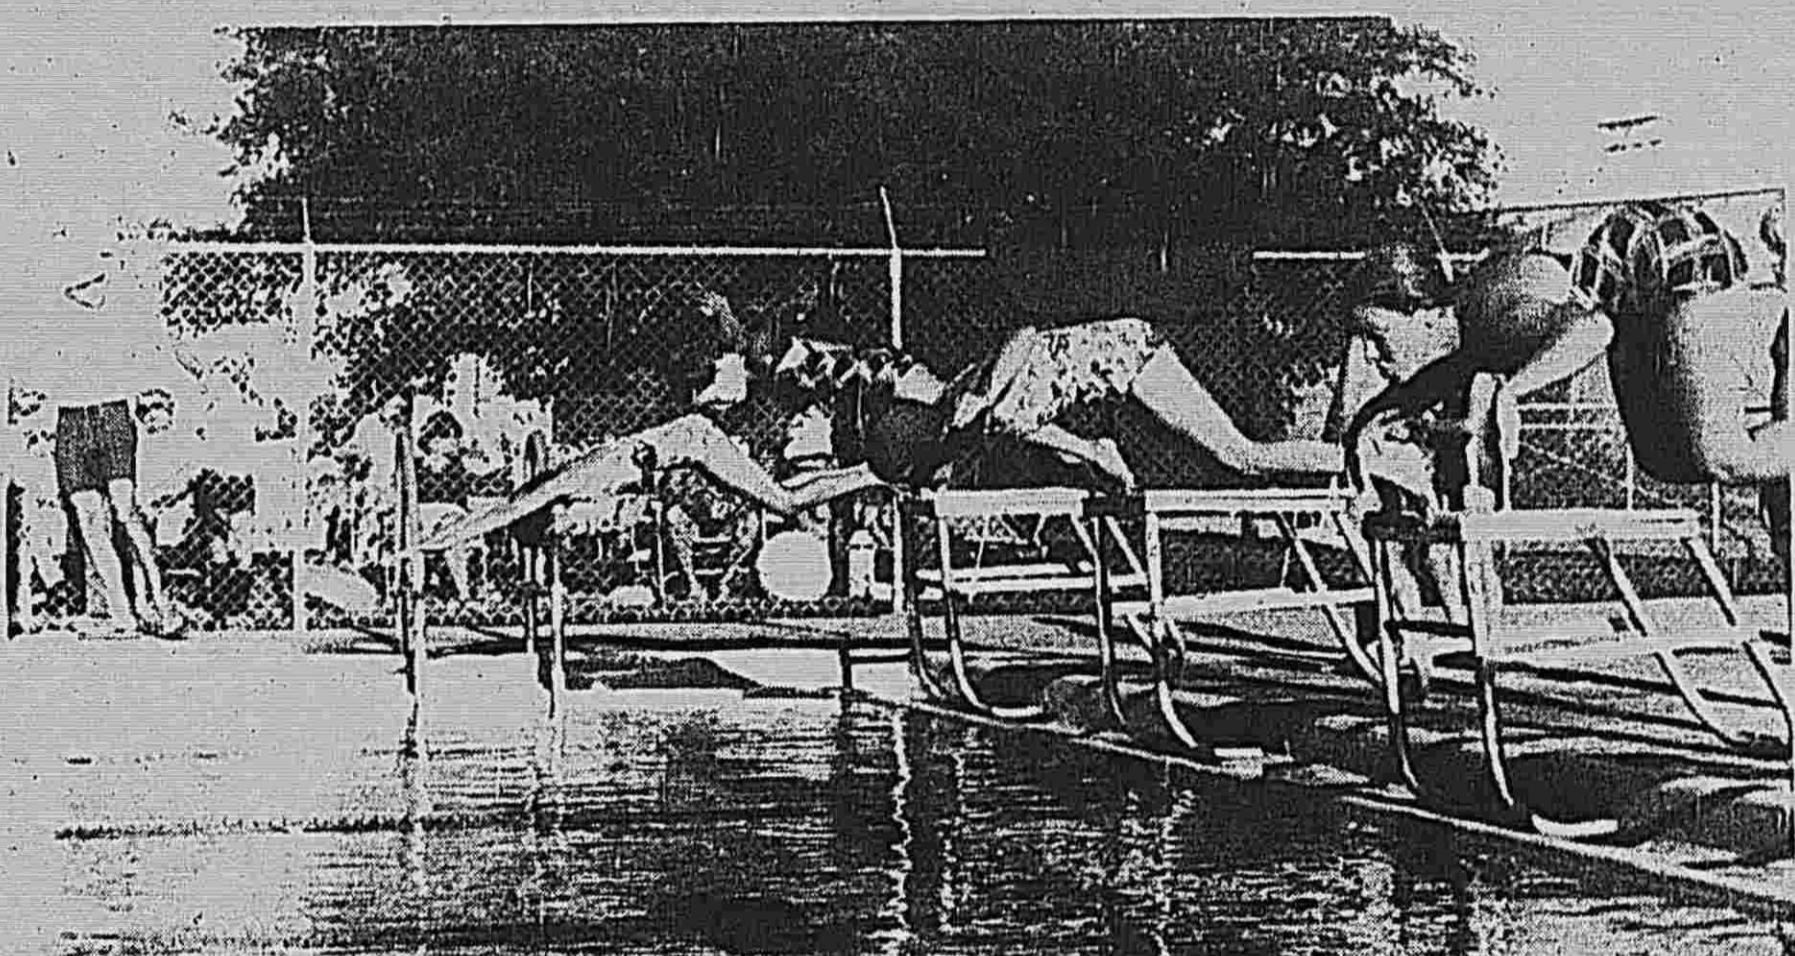

The main unit houses the tuner/amplifier, record turntable and, in some models, a tape player or player/recorder. Two stereo speakers come with the unit.

Look for solid state circuitry in the tuner/amplifier for more reliable and dependable operation. Some Zenith models also have a tuned RF stage on FM. This circuit gives you greater selectivity and sensitivity for distant station reception—a decided plus since many summer cottages are far away from broadcast signals.

In addition, look for a unit that features a Hi filter to reduce AM/FM/Stereo FM noise and AM whistle noise in poor reception areas.

The speakers, which are detached from the main unit, can be placed out of the way—also a space saver for the vacation cottage or travel trailer.

Swimmers set league records

By CAROL BERRY

The Antioch Swim Team, sponsored by the State Bank, had a busy week.

The "B" squad lost to Brentwood's "B" team while at the same time the "A" squad won a non-conference dual meet against Cary Park District.

The luck of the "A" squad swimmers didn't hold, however, as they got third place in the North Suburban Conference Relays last Saturday.

Host team and first place winner was Plum Grove of Palatine. The Brentwood team of Waukegan took second place.

Of the 31 relay events, the Antioch swimmers only managed to capture three first places, but all three set new conference records.

The 15 and 16 year old girls took two of the firsts with Sue Harrison, Judy Houghton, Karen Shepard and Rita Staszak in the 200-yard freestyle relay, and Harrison, Houghton, Shepard and Shelly Volting in the backstroke relay at the same distance.

The other new conference record was won by the combined efforts of Bryan White, Brian Wogslan, Rati Wilkinson and Jerry Smith in the 9-10 year old boys 100-yard breaststroke relay.

3 students attend conservation workshop

MACOMB, Ill. - Diane Karczewski, 23815 West Lake Vista Ave.; Jennifer Bowman, 807 Rinear Rd.; and Kristi Portalski, 774 Main St., all of Antioch, are among 23 high school students participating in the Western Illinois University (WIU) Youth Conservation Workshop.

"We are trying to make students aware of the various areas of conservation," said Dr. Robert Palmer, associate professor of agriculture and workshop coordinator.

Representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, Illinois Water Survey, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Illinois Department of Conservation as well as WIU faculty members will instruct the students in various aspects of conservation.

"Water Resources: Increasing Needs," "Minerals and Fuels - What Happens When They Are Gone?" and "The EPA and a Quality Environment are among the topics to be examined.

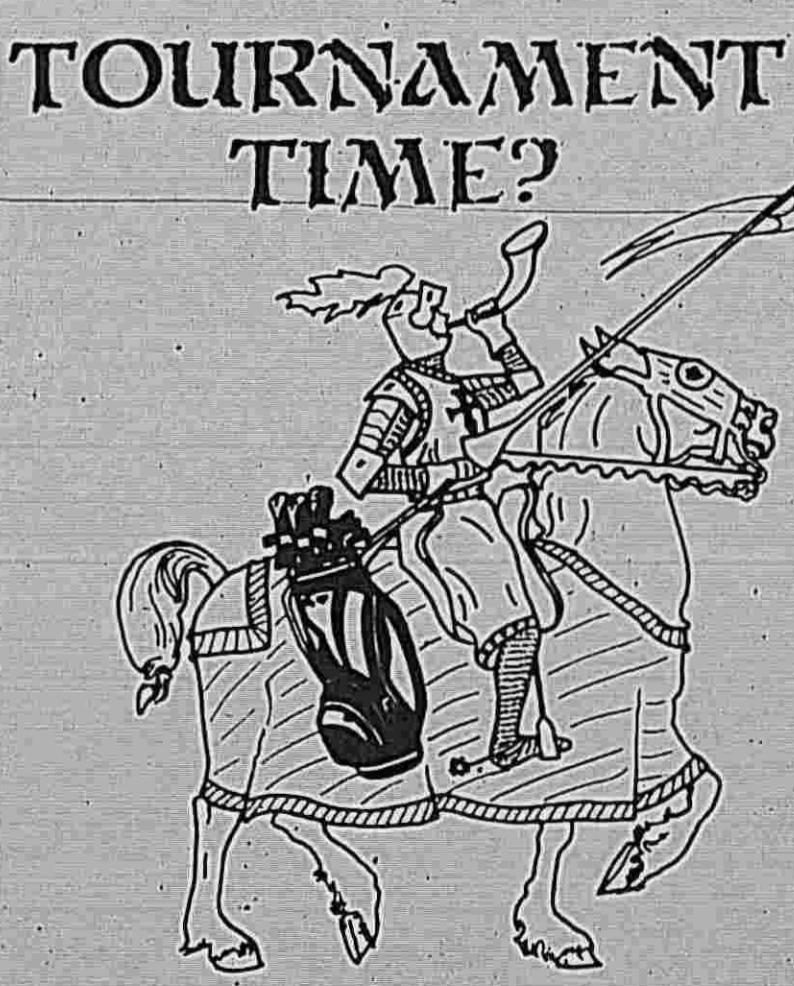

Field trips to area farms, Argyle State Park near Colchester, WIU's University Farms, and to various university departments are in store for the young participants.

The 1978 Youth Conservation program consists of three one-week summer workshops serving a total of 100 high school students offered through continuing Education and the department of agriculture at Western Illinois University.

Karczewski and Portalski attended the workshop through a scholarship provided by the First National Bank of Antioch and Bowman's was provided by Northern Illinois Conservation of Antioch.

Antioch drivers star again at Waukegan track

Defending late model champion Don Collins of Antioch won his eighth 25-lap feature of the season at the Waukegan Speedway last Saturday.

Ben Stubinski kept his string of checkered flags alive as he won the 12-lap hobby stock main event.

Heat winner Bill Bain took the 25-lap feature lead from his second row starting spot and held it until lap 12 when he developed mechanical problems.

Collins, who also won a heat race, took over and proceeded to pull away from the field.

COLLINS WAS FOLLOWED by fastest qualifier Ron Shearer of Gurnee.

Tom Homan of Antioch won the trophy dash with Steve Hamilton of Racine winning a heat.

Hamilton's win was unusual because he was running third behind first place Homan and second place Mike Frost when they suddenly pulled into the infield just yards short of the finish line. Homan blew an engine and Frost lost oil pressure.

THE SPEEDWAY WAS a super fast track on Sunday night for the F&M Automotive Night championship races as two track records were set in the super-modifieds.

Current point leader Gary Dye won the feature as well as the fast heat.

Dye started the night with a lap of 15.38 seconds, breaking his own mark set in May. Defending champion Bob Robel was not to be outdone as he clocked a 15.37 to establish the new record.

By virtue of his second fastest qualifying lap, a 10-lap, record-setting performance in the fast heat and his feature win, Dye received a special trophy for being the night's high point man.

Bicyclist maps available

A map identifying places for the bicyclist to ride in Lake, Cook, McHenry, DuPage, Kane and Will counties has been published by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission.

The map shows all of the region's 532 miles of bike paths, and also more than 800 miles of proposed bike paths.

Along with its accompanying technical report the map will provide local governments with information on bike path planning, bicycle safety programs, and bicycle facilities such as racks and shelters.

The report suggests that if a bike path system existed in the region, thousands of people would find it convenient to use bicycles, not only for recreation, but also for uses such as trips to commuter rail and rapid transit stations.

Three types of bike paths are identified on the map: a trail on a right-of-way separate from streets; a bicycle lane in a street, but marked off by a physical barrier or pavement striping; and a bicycle route in a street designated by signing only. Most of the existing bike paths are of the latter two types, while most of the proposed paths will be on separate rights-of-way.

The map shows a lack of bike paths in western and southern Cook County, as well as the outer areas of Lake, McHenry, Kane and Will counties.

Areas where there are a concentration of existing or proposed bike paths include Chicago, eastern DuPage County, the Fox River Valley, the northern and

Yankees win first game of playoffs

Antioch's two best Little League baseball teams were scheduled to play for the season championship Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Teresi-Chevrolet Yankees, who had a 9-5 record while winning their division title, won the first game in the best-of-three series by scoring a thrilling 4-3 win over the Lyons-Ryan Cubs Monday night.

The Cubs were slight favorites entering the play-off because they had an 11-3 record in their division and had edged the Yankees 10-9 and 4-3 in regular-season games.

But John Humphreys pitched manager Ron Raven's Yankees to victory Monday night, and Andy Lehn hit a two-run "homer" inside the park, with the help of a throwing error by the Cubs.

Frank Mahar pitched for the Cubs Monday night and his brother, John, whacked another home run over the Little League fence. The Mahar twins have been star pitchers and home run hitters all season.

If a third and final game is necessary, it will be played Friday night at 8. Bob Weber is manager of the Cubs.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS working on the golf outing at Brae Loch Country Club in Grayslake Friday, July 21, are (L to R) Paul Brandenburg, Warren township chairman; Bob Hoffman, Lake Villa township precinct committeeman; George Scherer, Avon township chairman and Jerry Murphy, Antioch township chairman. Tickets at $25 include a continental breakfast, light lunch, golf and a prime rib dinner. Dinner-only tickets are available at $15 and can be purchased through the above committee members.

northwestern suburbs, and far southern Cook County.

In these areas there is an opportunity for adjoining communities to create intercommunity paths.

A copy of the Commission's bike paths map can be obtained by sending 50 cents to Bike Map, Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, 400 W. Madison St., Chicago, IL 60606.

Drive sensibly and save gas

"Summertime . . . and the livin' is easy . . ."

Or it should be.

And part of that easy living is the knowledge that you can jump into your car or RV and take off for a weekend of fishing or camping or touring.

However, there are indications that the principal ingredient for that weekend (or week-long or month-long) trip—gasoline—could be in short supply during the months when we use it most.

And, even worse, what supply we have could cost a great deal more this year.

So how can we be sure to get the most out of what we have at the least cost?

First, be sure your car is in its best condition. Take it in for a tune-up and be sure everything is working properly and efficiently.

Second, don't over-burden your vehicle. AAA says your car loses about one-tenth of a mile per gallon for every 100 pounds of extra weight: about one-half mile per gallon in a smaller car with a smaller engine.

Third, have a planned route in mind. This doesn't mean you must go directly from Point A to Point B without taking side trips. But try to have your side trips continue you in the correct direction to reach Point B.

Fourth, pay attention to your tires. See that they are properly inflated according to the manufacturer's recommended cold tire pressure. Improper inflation can rob you of good mileage.

Fifth, air conditioners drain energy. Chances are, just riding with the windows open will keep you comfortable. Go easy with the unit and save fuel and money.

How you drive is as important as the condition of your vehicle. Keep these tips in mind for better gas economy:

1 - Observe the 55 mile speed limit. For that matter, tests have shown that 45 mph is the most economical speed at which to travel. Not only will you save money, you'll be able to see the Great Outdoors better and spot places you want to explore.

2 - Keep a steady soft foot on the accelerator. Speeding up and slowing down cost gas.

3 - Avoid Jack Rabbit starts. They waste fuel and cause extra wear on the tires.

4 - If you're caught in traffic or waiting for someone, turn the engine off. Idling wastes fuel and increases pollution.

Remember, the Great Outdoors is there to enjoy. You can add to that enjoyment by driving carefully and sensibly and at the same time driving economically and safely.
